

Policy on Reconstruction Support Initiatives in Areas Affected by the Great East Japan Earthquake in the Period to 2020

Formulated in 2016

In March 2016, five years after the Great East Japan Earthquake, we adopted a policy on reconstruction support initiatives in the period to 2020.

In order to ensure steady progress in the reconstruction and regeneration of the disaster-affected areas, drawing on the foundation of various reconstruction initiatives that we have undertaken over the past five years, we will continue to provide sustainable support, such as through business operations closely connected to local communities, that contribute to regional revitalization, as well as environmental and social contribution activities, with particular emphasis on nurturing future generations, who will take up the task of recovery work.

Mitsui will continue to contribute to steady recovery and revitalization of the disaster-stricken areas through dialogue and cooperation with all people concerned to provide support that best suits the needs of the region in ways that reflect the changing situation in the disaster-afflicted areas with the passage of time.
