Contribution to Society

While modern society is becoming increasingly diverse and dynamic, undergoing ever faster change and growth as globalization and the integration of information and communications technologies accelerate, it is also facing a long and varied list of economic, environmental, and social challenges: climate change, food, energy, water, and other environmental and resource-related issues, problems with human rights, poverty, child labor, and educational inequality.

Our sustainable growth as a private corporation cannot be achieved without improvement in the sustainability of society as a whole. We believe that our duty as a member of society is to assist the local communities, nations, and international communities in which we operate as they take steps to overcome these challenges toward a better future.

Mitsui believes its corporate social responsibility is to continually contribute to society through its core business. As we launch businesses, create new value, and build interpersonal relationships, we hope to contribute directly and indirectly to the healthy growth of local communities—domestic and abroad—and the global economy, for better standards of living for everyone.

Core Values: Originating in the former Mitsui’s Founding Philosophy

The former Mitsui & Co.,* which was established in 1876, was disbanded as part of the dissolution of Japan’s zaibatsu (industrial conglomerates) shortly after the end of World War II. The current Mitsui was founded by employees of the former Mitsui & Co. that shared the values of the original company: “Challenge and Innovation”, “Open-Mindedness”, and “Focus on Human Resources”. The Mitsui of today continues to contribute to the creation of new value for society.

The way we work and the way we think are still very much based on the values espoused by Takashi Masuda, the first president of the former Mitsui & Co., and are reflected in our stance toward our work. The principles of Mitsui’s CSR have always reflected its founder’s values, a way of thinking unchanged to this day.

* The current Mitsui & Co., Ltd. was established through mergers of the various new companies that had been established after the disbandment of the former Mitsui by the order of GHQ, so legally speaking, there has been no continuation between the former Mitsui & Co. and the current Mitsui & Co.

“Avoid infatuation with immediate advantage. To achieve enduring prosperity, harbor grand aspirations.”

“I started Mitsui & Co. with the goal of realizing trade on a large scale, not in pursuit of money, but from the desire to work.”

“Mitsui has a pool of very talented individuals. This is Mitsui’s most important asset.”
For many years, Mitsui’s way of thinking and the values it holds in business and work were never articulated on paper. So in 2004 we systematically and clearly set forth in written form the implicit values we shared, and issued our "Mission, Vision and Values (MVV).” We believe that sharing this management philosophy is even more important than ever as we work to create true value around the world through our global activities.

Contributing to Society through Our Core Business and Mitsui’s CSR

If a society is not sustainable, the companies in that society will not be sustainable. Similarly, if a company is not sustainable, it cannot fulfill its social responsibilities. Through Mitsui’s many years of development as a company, we have constantly sought to anticipate how society will evolve and to consider how the Company should wield its potential as well as further advance its functions and capabilities. By staying highly attuned to our environment and society, and by striving to make progress for Japan and for the world, Mitsui is constantly searching for ways to contribute towards a better future. Our aim is to build a sustainable society and provide value through our core business. That is why we pursue Yoi-Shigoto (good quality work) in everything we do—day after day, year after year. Yoi-shigoto means work that is: (1) beneficial to society; (2) useful and value-creating for our customers and partners; and (3) a worthwhile challenge for each employee.

Mitsui CSR Policy and Philosophy

Mitsui’s “Basic CSR Policy (formulated in 2003, amended in 2013)” is built upon the foundation of our business activities: our management philosophy of “Mission”, “Vision” and “Values.”

We strive to continue building a congenial relationship with our stakeholders through dialogue, and create value for society by actively contributing to the creation of a future where the aspirations of the people can be fulfilled.

In addition, our “Long-Term Management Vision” for the Mitsui of 2020 upholds our goal of providing industrial solutions to meet the changing needs of the times. To make this vision a reality, we will continue to practice our Basic CSR policy, which is essential for realizing Mitsui’s New Medium-Term Management Plan, “Challenge & Innovation for 2020 – Demonstrating Mitsui Premium.”
In 2004, Mitsui formed the CSR Promotion Committee as an advisory body to the Corporate Management Committee to develop Mitsui's internal framework with respect to CSR and work to raise CSR awareness among employees. Mitsui also promotes CSR-related activities based on cross-organizational collaboration to meet the needs and expectations of society in relation to the company's social values and initiatives.

As a measure to facilitate planning and promotion of the CSR activities, such as practicing CSR management and raising CSR awareness in the organization, together with the staffs in the workplaces of each unit, we appoint CSR Promotion Officers in each of the corporate staff divisions, business units, overseas regional business units, and domestic offices and are building our internal CSR network. We also hold a CSR Promotion Officers Meeting every quarter as a place for officers to share information.

In the fiscal year ended March 31, 2014, CSR Promotion Officers organized programs tailored to employees at each workplace, such as CSR seminars, workshops and lectures by outside experts and business partners.
The CSR Promotion Committee submits proposals to the Corporate Management Committee on CSR-related management policies and business activities, inculcates the importance of CSR management throughout the Company, makes recommendations with respect to “Specially Designated Businesses”, and conducts other related activities.

The committee’s chairman is the executive officer in charge of corporate staff divisions (oversees the Corporate Planning & Strategy Division), and its deputy-chairman is the executive officer in charge of corporate staff divisions, including the Human Resources & General Affairs Division and the Legal Division. The general managers of each corporate staff division—the Corporate Planning & Strategy Division (secretariat), the Investor Relations Division, the Corporate Communications Division, the Human Resources & General Affairs Division, the Legal Division, the Investment Administrative Division, and the Environmental/Social Contribution Division—serve as its members. The committee has the following duties:

1. Develop fundamental policies on the management of the Company’s CSR and fundamental plans for activities promoting CSR
2. Configure and establish an internal corporate structure for the management of the Company’s CSR
3. Determine the key issues to focus on each year for activities to promote the CSR measures of the Company and ensure progress on these
4. Respond to issues related to CSR, both within and external to the Company
5. Decide whether to support individual proposals qualified as Specially Designated Businesses, and determine necessary precautions for projects that will be supported

Furthermore, the Environmental Advisory Committee has been established under the CSR Promotion Committee, with the objective of responding to various CSR related issues.
Mitsui’s Stakeholders

Mitsui closely monitors the effects of its diverse and global business activities on society and works to identify its stakeholders who are especially interested. Through interactive communication with our stakeholders, each of Mitsui’s employees and officers is endeavoring to acquire a firm understanding of what society expects from and requires of them. Based on this understanding they will strive to respond to changes in market environments, constantly develop themselves, and through Mitsui’s core business, create new value that is useful to society and befitting of the Mitsui name.

The fourth summit was attended by 145 countries and a total of 1,200 participants, from 145 countries including officers from various international organizations and agencies affiliated with the United Nations, governments, top executives from private companies, and NGOs/NPOs. This is the second time that Mitsui has participated since the 2010 Summit. The two-day program was comprised of a general meeting among all participants and individual sessions, and wide-ranging discussion was conducted on various initiatives and action targets for achieving “Architects of a Better World” based on a post-Millennium Development Goals perspective. January 2013: Yoi–Shigoto Roundtable

Masayuki Kinoshita—Senior Executive Managing Officer (at the time) and chairman of the CSR Promotion Committee—and Koichi Tanaka—Executive Managing Officer (at the time) and vice-chairman of the committee—joined our six young employees to discuss Yoi–Shigoto. Various opinions were expressed regarding the meaning of Yoi–Shigoto, including that it is “something with no right answer to Yoi–Shigoto but that is a constant learning process”, that it means employees should “regularly stop and take the time to think about Yoi–Shigoto because they all work so frantically”, or that it means “contributing by playing a supportive role.” The dialogue served as a chance to again realize the importance of thinking in the moment for each and every employee.
Experts reflected on Mitsui’s CSR initiatives and offered their opinions on issues that employees should be aware of currently, as well as what will be required of the company in the future. The dialogue touched a wide variety of topics, including dialogue with stakeholders, innovation, the supply chain, abilities at workplace, and the types of leaders the company needs. Furthermore, the sharing of information was promoted by publishing the details of the dialogue in the company magazine “MBK LIFE” as well as on the company intranet, with employees gaining hints that they can utilize in their daily work.
