Respect for Human Rights
Support for International Standards

Human Rights Initiatives

Conducting business globally in many countries and regions of the world, Mitsui & Co. considers the protection of human rights in accordance with international standards to be its sustainability management platform. Mitsui’s Basic CSR Policy states, “make prudent efforts to understand the culture, traditions, and customs of countries and regions around the world” and “recognize the significance and importance of the human rights contained in international standards”.

The “Business Conduct Guidelines for Employees and Officers of Mitsui & Co., Ltd.” prescribe and require Mitsui employees and officers to observe: full consciousness of their role as members of international society, understanding of and respect for the cultures, customs, and history of individual nations; protection of human rights; and eschewing any form of discrimination based on race, creed, gender, social status, religion, nationality, age, or physical or mental ability. Furthermore, regarding measures to prevent any kind of discrimination and sexual harassment, we are raising employee and officer awareness by providing compliance seminars and other opportunities tailored to each job level.

We also support various international standards, such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the ILO (International Labour Organization) Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work.

Universal Declaration of Human Rights

The Universal Declaration of Human Rights is a common standard of objectives for all peoples and all nations to respect human rights and freedoms. The Declaration was proclaimed on December 10, 1948 at the third United Nations General Assembly and occupies an important position in the history of human rights.

Following this declaration, the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR) and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) were adopted by the 21st United Nations General Assembly on December 16, 1966. They both recognize the majority of the rights indicated in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Japan ratified both treaties in June, 1979.

Mitsui supports the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the ICESCR and the ICCPR.

ILO Core Labour Standards

The International Labour Organization (ILO) was founded in 1919 as an international organization responsible for drawing up and overseeing international labor standards. The ILO is a tripartite agency that brings together representatives of governments, employers, and workers to shape programs together on the subjects of human rights, occupational safety and health, hiring policies, and the development of human knowledge for the adoption of ILO agreements and recommendations.

In 1998, the ILO established the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work. As the basic rights of workers (ILO Core Labour Standards), they are defined in the 8 conventions in 4 fields (freedom of association and the right to collective bargaining C87/C98, the prohibition of all forms of forced labor C29/C105, elimination of the worst forms of child labor C182/C182 and non-discrimination in employment C100/C111).

Mitsui supports the 8 conventions constituting the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work.

Respecting Indigenous Peoples

When conducting operations, Mitsui strives to comply with all laws of the applicable country or region, and to respect the human rights and cultures of its indigenous peoples in accordance with international standards such as the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the Convention concerning Indigenous and Tribal Peoples in Independent Countries (ILO Convention: C 169).

For example, in our forest resources business for pulp and paper manufacturing in Australia, we are exercising due diligence by assessing the level of impact that Mitsui’s projects might have on the indigenous Aboriginal population. As part of our research into available solutions in the event that any problems are discovered, we conduct advance surveys from the viewpoint of cultural protection to ensure that our operations will not destroy Aboriginal historical sites. In our iron ore mining operation in Brazil, we maintain close communication with the indigenous people living in the Amazon to foster mutual respect.

In Japan, Mitsui has entered into agreements with the Biratori Ainu Association and with the town of Biratori in Hokkaido, where a part of Mitsui's forests is located to cooperate in activities to protect, and pass on Ainu traditional culture through the conservation of forests.

Guidelines for Appointing a Security Firm

The UN Code of Conduct for Law Enforcement Officials was adopted in December 1979 so that the UN can promote and ensure that law enforcement authorities such as the police and the military in member countries take on appropriate roles as well as respecting and protecting human dignity. The Principles on the Use of Force and Firearms by Law Enforcement Officials was also adopted in August/September 1990 as the standard for the use of force and firearms by law enforcement officials.

Mitsui bases its appointment of security firms on these codes of conduct and principles.

Management System for Human Rights and Labor Conditions

Mitsui & Co. conducts an internal survey in alternate years concerning compliance with the UN Global Compact, to raise the awareness of management and employees regarding human rights and labor issues at its business units, corporate staff divisions, and domestic and overseas organizations (branch offices and consolidated subsidiaries).

1. Do you fully understand the UN Global Compact?
2. Have there been any violations of the 10 principles of the UN Global Compact? If so, report the details of the violation and what measures were taken to handle the situation.

As a consequence of this survey, if it is found that we have a unit, a division, or an organization that materially lacks an understanding of the UN Global Compact, we will take measures, such as providing additional training seminars.

In addition, we continue to hold e-learning courses and other training activities to remind employees of the importance of addressing and managing risks related to human rights and labor problems in the supply chain.

With regard to our main suppliers, we promote initiatives for improving our supply chain management by conducting supplier surveys which involve sending out questionnaires and carrying out on-site surveys based on a checklist. In the fiscal year ended March 2018, we sent questionnaires to 68 of our suppliers, and conducted on-site surveys at the plants of our supplier of oleochemical product. Through these surveys, we confirmed their compliance with our Supply Chain CSR Policy, which covers human rights, labor conditions, and other aspects.

Moreover, through our participation in working groups of Global Compact Network Japan, such as the Human Rights Due Diligence (HRDD) Working Group, we are able to keep up-to-date with international trends related to human rights, and can make use of the information we obtain from other companies to enhance our sustainability promotion activities.

We continue to deepen our awareness of human rights and labor issues in reference to international guidance, such as the UN’s Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, by measures such as inviting outside experts to hold seminars.
